PATIENT INSTRUCTIONS:

Exam Preparation:

There are no patient preparations required for this exam. Exams are scheduled Monday through Thursday at 7am only.

1. On day-one, blood will be drawn from the patient at 7am. The patient's blood will be taken to a special lab where the white blood cells will be extracted and tagged with a radioactive tracer and delivered back to the nuclear medicine department.
2. At approximately noon the same day, the patient will return to be injected with their own white blood cells.
3. Approximately two hours after the injection, the patient will be imaged. Images will take approximately one hour.
4. Day two, the patient will return for a second scan. No injection is required for the second scan. The scan will take approximately one hour.
