Kelly Hidalgo, PT, MPT, PCS, is our Pediatric Physical Therapist and Team Lead for the Pediatric Rehabilitation Department. She has been a pediatric Physical Therapist for over 18 years and has been with Wolfson for five years. Kelly previously spent two years at Children's Healthcare of Atlanta; six years in home health and early intervention with the BCW program; and six years as owner/manager of Grow With Me Pediatric Physical Therapy. Kelly is a certified pediatric specialist through the APTA. She has extensive experience in early intervention, aquatics, serial casting, orthotic management, equipment assessments, NDT training, and evaluation and treatment of infants with torticollis. She enjoys educating families and providing a positive experience that promotes a focus on abilities and quality of life. Kelly is married and has three children; she enjoys music, watching her kids play sports, and opportunities when they can spend time together.

Erica Boyd, MOT, OTR/L, graduated from Shorter College with a B.S. in Biology and completed her master's degree in Occupational Therapy at The University of St. Augustine for Health Sciences. She has worked in the pediatrics field for 17 years and has experience with a variety of diagnoses, including Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Down Syndrome, TBI, learning disabilities and sensory processing disorders. Erica uses treatment approaches that facilitate the development of self-care, sensory integration, fine motor, visual motor and visual perceptual skills and has training in Constraint Induced Movement Therapy (CIMT) and serial casting. Erica helped to establish and serves on the board for The Miracle League of Camden County which provides a field with a rubberized surface that enables persons with special needs to play baseball. She enjoys many outdoor and sports activities, spending time with family and friends and she is very active in her church.

Theresa Cheek, OTR/L, attended the University of GA and Medical College of Georgia graduating with a B.S. in Occupational Therapy. She is licensed in Georgia and Florida and has practiced for more than 35 years. She has worked with children and adults in a variety of settings including home health, long term care, outpatient, school system and early intervention. While working in the school system setting, she was part of the assistive technology team. Theresa has experience in NDT, reflex integration, sensory integration, rhythmic movement and wheelchair positioning and mobility evaluations. She also works as a consultant in a long term care facility for developmentally disabled. Theresa values a family and team approach, including support with home programs, determining sensory needs and structure, and working with other disciplines to best meet family goals. Theresa's outside interest include hiking, traveling, cooking, reading and growing/producing olives.

Chris Collett coordinates all of our front office operations. After graduating from Nazarene Bible College, Chris and her family lived and worked abroad, where she used her managerial skills to organize and run a million-dollar food distribution program and a mission station. Back in the states, she subsequently built a successful fast food business. When not at work, you will likely find her enjoying church, spending quality time with her children and grandchildren, traveling, reading a good book or kicking up her heels dancing.

Michele Morris is our part-time front desk and special projects assistant. She previously held positions in health data analysis/reporting and has served as a hospital and school volunteer. Michele attended the University of Connecticut where she earned a B.S. in Human Development & Family Relations and a master's degree in Public Health. She joined our staff in 2017 and feels privileged to work with such a talented and dedicated team of therapists.

Mary Katherine Hayes, MS/CCC-SLP, received her B.S. in Communication Disorders from the University of Toledo and graduated with a Master of Science in Communication Disorders from Bowling Green State University in Bowling Green, Ohio. Mary Kay holds her Certificate of Clinical Competence from the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and is licensed to practice in the state of Georgia. She has worked in a variety of settings, including hospitals, private clinics and public schools across the United States. She has a special interest in working with children and young people on the Autism Spectrum and children who have found their voice through the use of speech generating devices. She is trained in the use of LAMP, Kaufman therapy interventions, social-thinking strategies and PECS. She believes in the power of the village in helping children succeed and the importance of building trusting relationships with parents and school providers. When not working, she enjoys spending time with her family, gardening and reading.

Claire Kitchen, M.ED/CCC-SLP, received a B.A. in Communication Sciences and Disorders from the University of Alabama. She then completed her Master of Education degree for Speech-Language Pathology at the University of Georgia. She holds her Certificate of Clinical Competence from the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and is licensed to practice in Georgia. Claire previously worked in for the McIntosh County School System, providing early intervention services to the Headstart program and elementary school. She has been with Wolfson for one year and has experience with a wide range of speech and language disorders, including articulation disorders, developmental delays, autism spectrum disorders and the use of augmentative/alternative communication methods. In her spare time, Claire enjoys being with her family and friends out by the pool or beach, playing with her dog Dexter, cooking and watching movies.

Lydia Hutto, M.ED/CCC-SLP, has been a Speech Language Pathologist for over 10 years and has been with Wolfson Children's at Southeast Georgia Health System since 2018. She completed her undergraduate and graduate schooling at Valdosta State University where she received her Master of Education in Communication Disorders. She holds her Certificate of Clinical Competence from the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and is licensed to practice in Georgia and California. Throughout her time as a Speech Language Pathologist, Lydia has worked with people of all ages and has experience in a wide range of settings. In her current role, Lydia enjoys working with children who have feeding, swallowing, speech and language disorders. Lydia believes that the best outcomes for a child are achieved when the parents and families are educated and empowered to take an active role in the rehabilitation process.
